ABSTRACT

Oscar Di Montigny is an entrepreneur, thought leader and one of the leading experts in the analysis of global scenarios. After nearly twenty-five years at the top of the banking sector, he now leads Grateful Foundation and Grateful Sphere, two organisations that bring together enterprise, ethics and impact.

He created the Spherical Economy® and the Humanovability® method, through which he offers a new paradigm for reading the present and preparing for the future: a vision in which innovation, sustainability and humanism intertwine in concrete ways.

His talks are true journeys into the complexity of our time. Megatrends, new economic and social models, regenerative leadership, the education systems of the future: Oscar guides his audience through these themes with an engaging, visionary style rooted in experience.

Every talk is an act of responsibility and an invitation to cultivate an integral intelligence, one that unites knowing and feeling, action and contemplation, practice and soul.

At the heart of his vision lies Spherism, a system of thought that offers an evolutionary map, concrete and inclusive, for individuals, organisations and communities. Everything is interconnected, and every gesture, however small, has a collective effect. From this idea comes the Grateful Generation: a new generation that chooses the common good as its compass and the awakening of consciousness as its lever for transformation.

His words offer no formulas. They point to directions that place the human being back at the centre, along with our capacity to choose, change and evolve.

With courage. With vision. With gratitude.
